Standardized Meals Are Ordered for Italians

ROME.—Standardized restaurant meals, in five grades costing from $1.00 to $3.00 (98 cents) will be introduced throughout Italy.

The ministry forbade pastry shops throughout the country to make any kind of pastries, cakes or cookies.

The standardized meals will eliminate a carte menu from all restaurants from world-famous luxury to the humblest street cafe.

Ten in British Cabinet Enroll as Fire Guards

LONDON.—Ten members of the British cabinet registered at labor exchanges as fire guards, in connection with a government order affecting all men up to 60 years of age.

Prime Minister Churchill and two members of the cabinet were exempt, being past that age.

Australian Army Pays Women Aids $1.50 a Day

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA.—Australia, with the highest-paid army in the world—averaging $45 a month for an unmarried private—has decided to pay its army auxiliaries a minimum of $1.50 a day or $45 for an average month.

This force will stay on the home front, relieve men for military and skilled work, and be led by women of A.I.F. rank.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Morris, of near here, are home for Christmas.

Mrs. J. E. Ramsey has returned from a trip to the West.
